

As a proud military spouse, I understand the importance of support. The VT-22 Spouse Group is comprised of strong individuals who were called to duty when they said, "I do".

The Lady Golden Eagles are here to provide knowledge of the Kingsville and Coastal Bend area for new families coming aboard. We are also a great resource for keeping you informed on community activities. In addition, it is our commitment to keep you updated on squadron social events, such as: play groups, dining outs, philanthropy projects and more.

Most importantly, it is our privilege to mentor incoming spouses. Myself, as well as other members of our group, are here to provide advice and knowledge of your impending Fleet life. During your tour in Kingsville, it is our mission to arm you with awareness and readiness for what lies ahead.

Being a military spouse isn't always the easiest task. You will be tried, you will become weary, and there will be times when you ask, "How did I get myself into this?" At the end of the day, you can pat yourself on the back - because you will quickly realize that though you don't wear the uniform, your role is just as important as the spouse who does!

We are here to lend a hand to the community, but foremost to lend a hand to each other. Through the years I've met remarkable spouses who have not only become my friends, but also extended family. These spouses have been there through the good times and also through the trying times. It is for this reason, that I strongly encourage participating in the VT-22 spouse group. With ongoing transitions, unexpected turns, and day to day challenges, it is always nice to affiliate with those who are in the same boat.

So with this, I welcome you to VT-22 and thank you for your unwavering support and commitment to your active duty loved one.

Thank you,

Angela Parks

President, VT-22 OSC
